

Setting Up Voice on a Cisco 2610XM & IP Services SDK

These are what I consider to be the minimum settings for getting your voice lab up and going. With this setup manual and some helpful hints, you can put together a system that will allow you to make and receive calls from a Cisco IP Phone to another extension and to an outside line. We will also touch on setting up Cisco Communicator on a laptop and how to make calls from there to an extension and outside line.
